Managers—Your Allies

Managers play a critical role in increasing employee engagement. The best managers are directly involved in improving employee engagement.

• Teams that collaborate and innovate
• Employees that feel valued
• HR teams that can focus more on enablement and coaching
• Stronger teams that perform at a higher level
• Organizations that deliver better results

Managers don’t have the time.

Solution: Give your managers the tools and support they need to take action to improve employee engagement.

Managers don’t know how to improve it.

Solution: Show your managers how to interpret the data they need to take action.

Managers don’t know what recommendations that help managers take effective action to improve engagement.

Solution: Help your managers interpret the data and identify major areas of opportunity.

Managers don’t know how engagement impacts their team’s goals.

Solution: Motivate your managers to care about this problem with relevant context.

Managers don’t have access to actionable, team-level data.

Solution: Give your managers access to employee engagement data.

Barrier 3: Managers don’t know what recommendations that help managers take effective action to improve engagement.

Solution: Help your managers interpret the data and identify major areas of opportunity.

Barrier 4: Managers don’t have the time.

Solution: Give your managers the tools and support they need to take action to improve employee engagement.

Barrier 5: Managers don’t know how to improve it.

Solution: Show your managers how to interpret the data they need to take action.

Barrier 6: Managers don’t know how engagement impacts their team’s goals.

Solution: Motivate your managers to care about this problem with relevant context.

Barrier 7: Managers don’t have access to actionable, team-level data.

Solution: Give your managers access to employee engagement data.